90 Minute Documentary “The Kids We Lose”

7:30 am – 9:00 am

Friday, October 1st, is the (virtual) 14th Annual Glickman Symposium featuring keynote presenters Jessica Dere Ph.D. and Ross Greene Ph.D. This award winning 90 minute documentary film will be discussed at the symposium, and is available at Grand Rounds today for our faculty and guests to enjoy.

A collaboration between Lives in the Balance and Lone Wolf Media, The Kids We Lose is a feature-length documentary film about the human side of being a child or student with behavioral challenges, and the struggles faced by parents, educators, staff in facilities, mental health clinicians, and judicial and law enforcement professionals in trying to ensure that these kids receive the help they need. The Kids We Lose also exposes the often brutal, inhumane ways in which kids with social, emotional, and behavioral challenges are treated in schools, inpatient psychiatry units, residential facilities, and prisons. Their hopelessness, misery, and frustration are palpable. The human toll is hard to fathom. But these are also the most expensive kids in our society. Doing the wrong thing costs a fortune. When we don't help our most vulnerable kids, we all lose.

The Kids We Lose has already won many accolades, including:
Best Documentary, 2019 Whistleblower Summit and Film Festival, Washington, DC
Best Feature Documentary, 2018 New Hampshire Film Festival
Best Feature Documentary, 2019 Women's Film Festival, Philadelphia
Best Feature Documentary, 2019 Los Angeles Women's International Film Festival

Learners will:

- 1) heighten their awareness of the struggles faced by students with behavioral challenges and the parents, educators, staff, clinicians, and judicial and law enforcement professionals trying to ensure they receive the help they need
- 2) receive education on changes and updates in behavioral healthcare practice
